Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121.

Group I: Claims 9 and 10 drawn to a method for inhibiting the proliferation of malignant cells in the lungs of humans and non-human animals.

Group II: Claims 11 and 12 drawn to a method for chemical debridement or chemexfoliation of lung tissue in humans and non-human animals.

Group III: Claims 13 and 14 drawn to a method for attempting an immune system mediated inflammatory response in the respiratory tract of humans and non-human animals.

Each invention (specific medical condition) above is independent from the other since, for example, the treatment of malignant cells of the lungs is completely different from the treatment of an immune system mediated inflammatory response. Moreover, the literature search for the methods would be different as a reference for treating lung cancer would not be in the same reference book as for altering an immune system mediated inflammatory response.

The separate considerations are therefore, not limited to patent files searching and would constitute a burden on the Examiner. Therefore, restriction for examination purposes is proper.

Applicants are required to make a provisional election even though this requirement is traversed.
